Do you want a better understanding of saving, investing and the financial markets? Are you interested in learning about the most important factors to building wealth? Join us for Saving and Investing – an enlightening and entertaining session on basic strategies to help navigate Wall Street. The presentation will feature James T. Hogan, a Certified Public Accountant with more than 20 years of professional experience in the insurance industry. Mr. Hogan serves on the adjunct faculty at the University of Saint Joseph. He earned his B.S. in accounting and his M.S. in accounting and taxation from the University of Hartford.

About the Financial Literacy Seminar Series at the University of Saint Joseph: The recent economic crisis has increased awareness of and interest in learning more about sound money management techniques leading to smart decisions on personal finance. The University of Saint Joseph is reaching out to the local community and students by offering a free and informative five-session series of seminar programs presented by experts in the field designed to empower participants with essential tools to create financial well-being and a strong, prosperous future. USJ's Financial Literacy Seminar Series was founded by Gene and Kathleen Bruyette. Saving and Investing, the third session in this series, is sponsored by Gene and Kathleen Bruyette and the Department of Business Administration at the University of Saint Joseph.
