Building Bridges between the Past and Present at the University of Saint Joseph

WEST HARTFORD, CONN. (May 17, 2013) – Despite age differences, baby boomers and millennials have more in common than most realize. Gerontologist Mary Mitchell '90, M'94, DAA '12 and Mary-Jane Eisen, Ed.D., assistant professor, Psychology Department at the University of Saint Joseph (USJ), will build bridges between the generations and show how—no matter what our age—people can connect with one another during the Mercy Lecture at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, June 11, 2013, in the Crystal Room of Mercy Hall, on the university's West Hartford campus at 1678 Asylum Avenue. Admission, which is open to the public, is $25 per person and includes lunch. Contact Stephen Kumnick, manager of the Annual Fund and Alumni Relations, at 860-231-5323 or alumni@usj.edu.

This interactive, intergenerational, and creative session will focus on genealogy, reminiscence, oral history, and family storytelling as participants learn effective ways to use the internet, journals, audio and visual recordings to create the complete story of a person's life.

The University of Saint Joseph (USJ) offers a wide range of graduate, undergraduate, and certificate programs that combine a professional and liberal arts education with a focus on service. Coeducational graduate master's and doctoral degree programs are taught on the University's two campuses in West Hartford and Hartford, Connecticut; at off-campus locations throughout the state; and online. Undergraduate programs for women and for coeducational adult students take place on our beautiful suburban campus and include more than 22 majors and six pre-professional programs, each of which provides personal attention in a caring environment. Founded in 1932 by the Sisters of Mercy, the University of Saint Joseph welcomes students from diverse backgrounds and religious traditions. To learn more, view our website at www.usj.edu.
