Former Deputy Assistant Director of the FBI and University of Saint Joseph Alum Sheila Horan Shares Her Story With WNPR's Lucy Nalpathanchil

HARTFORD, Conn. (March 5, 2018) – Connecticut Public Radio and University of Saint Joseph in Hartford have announced that Sheila Horan will join Where We Live host Lucy Nalpathanchil for Making Her Story on Tuesday, April 3 at University of Saint Joseph's Autorino Center for the Arts & Humanities, 1678 Asylum Street, West Hartford. The evening will begin with a welcome reception at 6 p.m. followed by the program at 7 p.m.

In this three-part series, Nalpathanchil sits down with three prominent Connecticut women from different backgrounds to ask each about "her story" – the journey that led to her success in business, science, or the arts.

A 1969 graduate of University of Saint Joseph, Horan was born in Hartford and received her early education in the area. She earned a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from USJ as well as a Master's Degree in Education from Fairfield University in Fairfield, Connecticut. Horan was awarded the Distinguished Alumna Award from USJ in 2004 and recently completed nine years of service as a Board of Trustee.

Horan joined the FBI in November 1973, and during the course of her 28 year career she served in the Buffalo, Philadelphia, Washington, and New York field offices, as well as the FBI Headquarters. Her areas of concentration were foreign counterintelligence, counterespionage and terrorism. Horan held several senior executive positions including Acting Director of the National Security Division and Deputy Assistant Director of the Administrative Division. She served for five weeks in Nairobi, Kenya as the initial On Scene Commander following the bombing of U.S. embassies in Nairobi and Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania in 1998. She was awarded the U.S government's Distinguished Executive Award in 1999.

Tickets to the April 3 Making Her Story discussion with Horan and Nalpathanchil at the University of Saint Joseph are $10 and seating is limited. To purchase tickets and for more information, please visit wnpr.org/makingherstory.
